

We believe that building a love of music by being exposed to a range of genres and a wide selection of musicians will help to provide an opening into other cultures and deepen the children's understanding of the world. We want them to develop a genuine interest and curiosity about the how music can link into the language, culture and traditions of different countries. In addition to this, the mental health benefits of enjoying or performing music is so valuable to all children as studying music nurtures creativity, builds empathy, and helps people better express their emotions and manage anxiety.
